Affirmed.9 FULFORD v. STATE. (Supreme Court of Georgia. 1874. 50 Ga. 591.) Twppe, J.10--The indictment in this case not only charged the defendant, as principal in the second degree, in being present, aiding and abetting the chief perpetrator of the alleged offense, but proceeded further ind specified the acts whereby the aiding and abetting were done. The prosecuting counsel, on motion, struck these descriptive averments from the indictment, over the objection of defendant. We recognize the rule that it is not necessary to prove allegations in an indictment which are immaterial or purely surplusage. But the question is, what are immaterial averments? Or, rather, when do averments which might have been omitted become material--or, at least, so enter into the indictment as framed that they cannot be stricken or rejected as surplusage?
