Excerpt: .in the investigation was designed to show whether the commonly practised custom of watering cuts lengthened or shortened the duration of the dripping period. In round numbers it was found that when the cut was watered the tree continued to drip for eighty-one minutes, when the cut was not watered, for 102 minutes; that when the tree was watered it yielded 250 drops, when not watered 510 drops. A second and more extensive experiment led to the astonishing conclusion that one thousand trees would give about i lb. less rubber a day if water were poured on the cuts than they would give if the cuts were not watered. The reason for this appears to be that the addition of water induces coagulation.-- Agricultural News. LIME JUICE AND SCURVY. ### Reviews

This book is definitely not simple to begin on studying but quite fun to see. I actually have read and that i am sure that i will gonna read through yet again once again in the foreseeable future. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
